PRESS BUREAU OVERWORKED

The eleventh hour entrance of ex-Congressman W. P. Kimball, of Lexington, into the race for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator puzzled a great many people, as none could figure why he wanted to enter against Senator Ollie James, who the great majority of Democrats believed should be given the nomination without opposition. It has developed since that Mr. Kimball's entrance was only a safeguard—in the event that Senator James' illness should prove fatal the party would not be deprived of a standard-bearer for that important post. This is a peculiar twist in politics, but is paralleled by the situation here. The Republican leaders, realizing that the people were united behind the Democratic party, and thinking that half a loaf was better than none, proposed that the people be given no voice in the offices of Congressmen and Judge of the Court of Appeals be divided. Then again the G. O. P. were influenced by the growing impression that the voters are laying awake to get a whack at the Bolsheviki administration now in power at Sixth and Jefferson streets, and they feared to test public opinion. Democrats are proud to say that Congressman Shelley, Judge Gordon repudiated the unfair and autocratic suggestion, and Judge Gordon cleaned the bases when he said "The people will choose a Court of Appeals and I will be content with their choice." Stung by the exposures of mismanagement at the City Hospital, the Superintendent now tells the public that they are not entitled to hear what is going on in their hospital—the institution that every taxpayer is proud of and the building which was erected by a vote of the people through the bond issue. Dr. H. E. Tuley, following the policy of the present administration, has refused to let the taxpayers and citizens know what is going on in their institution. Naturally the public asks, "What is the Mayor and Board of Safety going to do about it?" Here is what Mayor Smith said on Monday, January 28, in an official statement: "I feel like the President of a big corporation, and all the residents of Louisville are big stockholders. As such they have a perfect right to know what is going on. As long as the present administration remains in office nothing is to be suppressed."

Dr. Tuley says nothing will be given out by Mayor Smith says nothing will be suppressed. Now watch Smith sidestep it in a long, rambling statement.

On the same day Col. Petty, the Chief of the Keystone comedy police, came to the bat with the following: "Reporters will be allowed to see every report filed in headquarters, nothing will be suppressed. Robberies have fallen away since the former administration, reports will be given out of all robberies."

Now we'll see how Col. Petty has lived up to that platform pledge. Edward Wiedeman, a traveling man, was robbed at the door of the City Hall this week, and the story hid from reporters, although published in the Police Bulletin. But for the prize camouflage and attempt to cover up from the Board of Safety down the West Broadway occurrence takes the prize.

In the latter part of May a house at 1511 West Broadway was raided and two women and two men seized by local police. No report of this was given out and it became gossip enough for the June grand jury to summon the witnesses. The members of the grand jury were told that Lieut. Fred E. Huhlein and Dr. Bohannon were the two men involved and that they had been released. It was alleged, for the payment of $50 to Sergeant W. F. Geisler and two patrolmen. W. C. Enrich, a saloon-keeper, testified that he was summoned at 1:30 a. m. to bring the $50. Sergeant Geisler at the time of the grand jury investigation was under suspension for running over a little girl in an automobile and running away from the scene. The failure to indict right away seemed to hinge on who saw the actual passage of the money, but the point of the whole thing is the canonical statement of Lewis Y. Johnson, the Chairman of the Board of Safety, who wrapped the American flag about him, so to speak, and mentions about the "arrest and disgrace of a young man who is serving his country in this great crisis." Peculiarly Mr. Johnson didn't take this attitude when private soldiers were dragged by the police into court the last several months.

Then again, Mr. Johnson, as a member of the present administration, may have wanted to shield

Lieut. Huhlein and Dr. Bohannon because they were faithful Republicans. Huhlein's father, Capt. Charles F. Huhlein, is a leader in local Republican ranks and on last election day was stationed in the Nineteenth precinct of the Ninth ward, and became so insistent in the progress of negro voters that he became involved in a warm argument with a police Sergeant and was called down pretty strong by the press bureau furnishes a "fess" of figures about the arrests of liquor violators and handbook men there is no report of convictions.

The Keystone police in the Seventh district staged a little farce with their chief in one reel, entitled: "Button, button, who's got a pistol?" Sunday evening a big crowd was pouring out from a school commencement at Eighteenth and Standard avenue when down the street came thundering one of the Keystone mounted men, giving an imitation of the midnight ride of Paul Revere. Just as he was in the ride of the latter, people came to their doors, and when he pulled up his forming steed many thronged about him to hear the result of his excitement. "Where's Johnson?" "Where's Johnson?" he asked, referring to another policeman. Then he told the cause of his mission, saying that away out the street a big bulldog was madly tearing a little poodle to pieces and had the neighborhood terrorized; and he had ridden in like mad to borrow Johnson's pistol to shoot the dog. Some one asked where his pistol was and he answered that he didn't have any. Some policeman in the same district the police machine has been out of commission and a Sergeant's Ford with a car saying "License applied for" has been carrying the prisoners. It's had enough to be arrested, but it is doubly hard to be taken to jail in an unlicensed "fiver." A subscriber made the suggestion that if Col. Petty wouldn't lead the proposed police parade, why not get Charlie Chaplin or "Fatty" Arbuckle for the gala event?

Senator Sam L. Robertson is letting no grass grow under his feet in his campaign for City Treasurer, and the big host of friends and followers of last year are working tooth and nail for him this year. Frank Hartman, the well known contracting artist, has announced for the vacancy in the Board of Aldermen.

Good Natured Rivalry Among the Different Church Parishes.

AN ANNUAL REUNION FOR ALL

A housing meeting of the Orphans' Picnic Committee was held Monday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall, and judging from the reports received this annual affair of our little orphans will attain a high mark of success, and this, too, despite the war times. CHAPLAINS

Military School at Camp Taylor Represents Eighteen Denominations.

Physical As Well As Spiritual Fitness Required By Army.

Chaplains Selected According to Proportion of Our Recruits.

ALL RANK AS THE LIEUTENANTS

The American army chaplain must know his Manual of Tactics as well as his Bible. He must be able to sit a horse and to undergo the exposure and strain of trench life. He must be a soldier as well as an evangel and a spiritual counselor; and so there has been established at Camp Zachary Taylor the only educational institution of its kind in the world, so far as can be learned—a school of chaplains. Its pupils represent eighteen denominations and they are a hefty lot. In addition to the Presbyterians, the Baptists, the Catholics, the Methodists and representatives of other better known Protestant creeds, there are a few Latter Day Saints and members of the Christian (Campbellite) church, and there are three negroes, an Episcopalian, a Methodist and a Congregational preacher.

Graduates of this school, and all the chaplains of the army are now to be under one general head—Bishop Charles Henry Brent, of the Protestant Episcopal church of the diocese of Western New York, formerly Bishop of the Philippines, having just been appointed to that office. The appointment of Bishop Brent to this position is the latest development in the work of organizing the chaplains of the army. The Bishop has been for some months in France actively interested in the work of the chaplains of the Y. M. C. A. He has long been a close personal friend of Gen. Pershing. He will work for the general military headquarters. He has under him two assistants, one Protestant and one Catholic, the Rev. Paul Dwight Moody, chaplain of the 103d Infantry, who is a son of the late Dwight L. Moody, and the Rev. Father Francis B. Donaherty, chaplain of the Third Cavalry. The head of the school at Camp Zachary Taylor is Major A. A. Pruden, chaplain of the Coast Artillery Corps, formerly at Fort Monroe, and who has seen service at Hawaii.

There have been 3,000 volunteers for the service of chaplain since the United States went into the war, and now the men are selected by what is called the hand-picking process. They come in through recommendations by their denominations, and a man who is apparently fitted for the army work but may lack military honors, duties are too important to leave has arrangements made to relieve him. The men must be under forty-five years of age, and they range from recent graduates of theological seminaries to men of wide and varied experience in the ministry. They will see hard service, and the physical examination which they are obliged to pass is as strict as that of the men.

It is because America has been so little of a military nation that so much military training is required. With the reorganization of the army, regiments being enlarged from approximately 1,200 men to a regiment to 3,600 men, more chaplains are needed for a regiment. One chaplain was provided for the smaller regiment and he could not well serve the nearly tripled number of men. The Federal Council of Churches of America, which represents all denominations, took action in this matter, petitioned for an increase in the number of chaplains, suggesting a bill for restoring the proportion. It was only on May 27 that the President affixed his signature to this bill.

Even with that increase in the number of its chaplains the United States will have a smaller number than Great Britain, which allows one chaplain for every 800 men, and does not consider this enough in cavalry regiments.

Never before has such emphasis been laid upon the morale of an army as a factor in achieving victory, and never before has the spiritual welfare of the soldiers received so much attention. These things have all been important in bringing about a school for chaplains which, taking men of breadth and character in the first place, will develop them to fill the requirements made upon them.

As with the "rookies," the chaplain in his training camp turns out of bed when the bugle blows reveille at 6:15 o'clock. He takes a half hour's setting-up drill and lines up with cup and plate at 6:45 for the regular army mess. Class work, after mess, includes instruction in military law, military customs and courtesies, French, military hygiene, first aid and general lectures on recreational and amusement work. In the afternoon there is military drill and instruction in horsemanship.

The third term of the school is now in session. The school was opened the first of March with seventy-five students, and the second session and the third, which opened on June 3, had each ninety men. Men are taken in numerically according to the size of their respective denominations in this country. Regular army recruits now are asked what religious denomination they belong to and the War Department has a survey of the religious denominations of the country, though this has been said to be tentative and it has not been given out.

Chaplains rank as Lieutenants and wear the regular uniform, only difference being that where the Lieutenant in the ranks wears his insignia on his collar the chaplain wears a simple cross. Major is the highest rank that can be taken, and there can be only a limited number of that rank among the chaplains. It takes several years before a Chaplain Lieutenant can rise above that rank. Some dissatisfaction has been expressed at the ranking of the men.

It is the chaplain who is the last to see the men when they "go over the top," and the first when they return. It is not the position of a slacker. Two chaplains who have gone to the front recently have been retired wounded in ten days.

SINN FEIN

Plot a British Invention That May Sidetrack Home Rule.

Premier George Can Produce No Evidence to Back His Charge.

Recruiting Council Reports That Many Irishmen Will Now Enlist.

CARSON IS THE MAN BEHIND

The announcement of the abandonment by the Lloyd George administration of home rule has taken nobody in Ireland by surprise. The Irish public had long ago concluded that the whole policy of the Government was directed to seeking or making an opportunity to evade its pledge. The result must inevitably be for the moment to strengthen the Sinn Fein movement, the leaders of which are placed in a position to boast that all their prophecies with regard to the insincerity of the Government have been fulfilled.

Lord Wilmot's declaration of his disbelief in the existence of any new plot, and his statement that he and all the members of his administration were in ignorance of any fresh evidence, is regarded as proving that the plot story was merely designed to provide the Government with an excuse for breaking its pledge to Irish convention and to Ireland. His challenge to Lord Carson to put the accused on their trial is quoted already as vindication of the prisoners and proof of the injustice of their detention without trial.

The feeling produced in Ireland by the methods of the new administration is reflected in the Sinn Fein victory in the Parliamentary election in East Cavan. When the contest opened between the Nationalist candidate repeating the successes of all his party candidates who had so far contested seats in Ulster, the irrepressible Ulster was broken down by the policy of the administration that was supposed to have come into existence to defeat the Sinn Fein.

Old Constitutionalists see in the consistency of what they term the Government's infidelity to its engagements with the Constitutional Nationalists since the first negotiations after the Easter rising, proof that the real aim of the present Government is to accomplish the final defeat of home rule by wiping out the constitutional movement and dividing Ireland into two parties of extremists, Orangemen and Sinn Feiners, the latter whom the British electorate after the war will be compelled to choose, as no one can expect that British electors would agree to a policy of separation; and as the moderates will have been defeated, they say, there will be no choice left to democratic England unless to continue the old system of oppression and repression of Ireland.

The tragedy of the position for Ireland is that the term the Government's Government has done consistently tended to play the Sinn Fein game, and the Sinn Feiners over their powerful position today more to Premier Lloyd George than to any other living man.

The colonial Premiers now in London for the imperial conference are staggered by these untoward happenings and by the control exercised by anti-democratic elements like Lord Curzon, Lord Milner and Bonar Law. But the man behind it all is Sir Edward Carson. He and not Bonar Law is the real leader of Toryism, and he has influenced the War Cabinet far more effectively since he resigned from it than when he was a member.

Viscount French, the Lord Lieutenant, has expressed his best wishes for the progress of the recruiting campaign to be undertaken by the recruiting council of four prominent Irishmen, A. M. Sullivan, Sir Maurice Dockrell, Capt. Stephen Gwynn and Henry McLaughlin. In a message to the council he says:

"The readiness and good-will with which you have responded to my invitation to act as the recruiting council assure me that I do not stand alone in my unflinching belief in my countrymen's sympathy for the cause for which the allied nations are fighting. The task you have undertaken will bring joy to the hearts of many old comrades in the field, who in the early period of the war were sustained in the days of trial that made our nation famous by the promise of help from the manhood of the old land.

"Hardships and trials have come again, and our Irish regiments are looking to the boys at home to maintain the great traditions of our fighting race. As an Irish soldier I desire to express my appreciation of the service you have undertaken for our native country, and I heartily wish you all success."

LOUISVILLE, KY. SATURDAY, JUNE 29, 1918

OUR ANNIVERSARY.

Next Thursday, July 4, will be the twentieth anniversary of the Kentucky Irish American. We were doing our bit to help win the Spanish-American war then and we are doing the same now for the present war. To the friends and patrons who have helped us during that score of years we again return our thanks. To our enemies, composed principally of Junior Order A. P. A.'s and hypocritical reformers, we serve notice to continue the warfare that has driven many of them to cover and oblivion.

THREE MORE YEARS.

In a few days America will launch a big gun programme for three more years of war. American soldiers to the number of 900,000 are now stationed on European soil. The number has exceeded all expectations. The submarine scare had but little effect on this side of the Atlantic. Transports left as usual last week and carried with them 100,000 boys.

The big gun campaign means much. It means that we are at last feeling our power in France to be worth testing in broader fields. It has been the general impression that we would not seek the initiative until we could show a strength of 1,000,000 men, and when we could count this number in the field then we would permit the Germans to know of our presence in a very decided way. The big guns will be used for smashing the German defense on the east bank of the Rhine. They call for three field armies of 1,375,000 men each, or more than 4,000,000 in all.

This is the real meaning of the $5,000,000,000 fortification bill that was reported to Congress Saturday. It reveals the purpose of Gen. Pershing and the allied staffs to carry the warfare clear to the German border and assault the citadels along the Rhine with ten, twelve and fourteen-inch guns and sixteen-inch mortars. There seems to be a scarcity of big guns in France. Many thousands have been rendered useless because of being overtaxed and the output is not equal to the demand. It is for the United States to enter this particular field at the present time. It is our policy to fill all immediate demands, in whatever branch of the service it is most needed, and to ask no questions.

The programme for carrying the war into the enemies' country was formulated by Gen. Pershing and was approved by the War Council in Paris and by the General Staff of the War Department in Washington. Another significant feature of this big appropriation bill is to be the improved fortification of our coast at home.

It is well that, now we have become thoroughly impressed with the gravity of the situation, we make our fortifications permanent, for there is nothing like being prepared to meet any unexpected happening, and we have a right to look for almost anything and not be surprised when it comes.

WORK IS OPEN.

Catholics would never support an anti-Protestant propaganda. Catholics have no professedly anti-Protestant publication. Catholics never take account of the religion of the man they do business with. Catholics would never withhold their vote from a candidate for office solely because he is a Protestant. Catholics have no organizations which work in secret and bind members by oath. Their work is all in the open, declares the Sunday Visitor.

The better one becomes acquainted with the Catholic church and her real teachings, the higher is the regard he entertains for them. The antipathy which non-Catholics have for the Catholic church is based not on any actual condition or teaching, but on a wholly erroneous conception of the church and her teachings. The grievance is subjective (in the person's mind only) and not objective (or having foundation in fact). It is not to the credit of people, whether they be ministers, Sunday-school teachers or the editors of sectarian papers, that they foster prejudice which has become a second nature in people, or that they engender prejudice in the little ones.

On all sides is emphasized the necessity of having all our people work in harmony and to unite them in a nation "with one heart and one mind," hence it is plainly both un-American and un-Christian to divide the people by preaching the doctrine of hate. Thank God, the Catholics of the United States do not lend themselves to the propagation of animosities; if anything they are too trustful both of public officials and of their separated brethren generally. This explains the inaction of Catholics with reference to anti-Catholic propaganda, and it probably explains why those who, for nefarious reasons, would check the growth of the Catholic church can carry their propaganda as far as they do.

TAKING ADVANTAGE.

There are several large manufacturing plants in this section endeavoring to benefit in the roundup of the unemployed; that is have them pretty nearly forced into employment in these places. Unable to secure workmen because of their reputation for low wages, child labor and long hours, they are now trying to reap the benefit of a war measure.

OUR COLUMNS OPEN.

Some of the friends of Mr. Ogden, the Republican machine candidate for Congress, say we misunderstood his remarks on the subject "Why I Am a Junior." The address was delivered before the Junior Order, and if Mr. Ogden or his friends wish to deny his connection with this un-American order our columns are open.

FOLLOW LEAD.

The New York County Board, Ancient Order of Hibernians, have followed the example set by Louisville's Hibernians and have adopted resolutions condemning Irishmen of the O'Leary type. The resolutions class this type as "a small, noisy coterie of professional Irishmen who have fattened on the wrongs of Ireland."

When one of our soldier or sailor boys makes the supreme sacrifice we say he died doing his duty. When one of us over here buys an interest-bearing Government security we want to be called a patriot. Let's buy War Savings Stamps to help our country and not to be glorified.

You are not giving anything away when you buy war stamps. You are merely accumulating a bank roll.

Today the Holy Father's prayer for peace will be offered up in one great world-wide chorus.

How about Interning Roosevelt until after we have won the war?

SAFE OVER.

Mrs. Thomas Riley, Culbertson avenue, New Albany, has received a letter from her son, Thomas Riley, announcing his safe arrival in France.

WELCOME VISITOR.

The Kentucky Irish American was delighted to have as a visitor this week the Very Rev. Michael S. Ryan, a member of the Kenrick Seminary faculty and editor of the Western Worker, St. Louis. While here Father Ryan was the guest of Charles Ralby and saw the best of Louisville.

K. OF C. INITIATION.

Tomorrow Louisville Council, Knights of Columbus, will initiate a class of seventy-eight candidates, with a well known team from Chicago doing the work. The degree work will be followed by a banquet at the Tyler Hotel in honor of the new Knights, and covers will be limited to 300. At the last meeting of the Entertainment Committee the question of having a banquet was raised, but the committee decided that as everybody would have supper after the work it was thought advisable to have the dinner together. A number of Louisville singers will help entertain the new members, and a prominent speaker from New York will probably be the guest of honor. Jeffersonville Council will have a number of candidates to add to Louisville's class, as will also New Albany, and Bardonia, Ky. This is the third initiation that has been held by Louisville Council this year, and another will be given during the latter part of July, which will be limited to soldiers at Camp Taylor. During the past month many calls from the soldiers to join the Knights of Columbus have been made, and Supreme Advocate Pellitier has ruled that soldiers can be taken into the order upon recommendation from their parish priest.

Col. P. H. Callahan will arrive here today and will be the guest of Louisville Council at the banquet at the Tyler Hotel after the initiation.

CAMP NEWS

The present week at the camp has been one of less activity than the week previous, as about all of the men have been transferred to other camps, and everything is being put in order for the new draft, which brought many soldiers into camp, beginning June 24. The Knights of Columbus are having a new building erected for the use of the colored troops on Indiana avenue, just beyond Sherman, and expect to open activities about July 4 at this place. There are about 6,000 colored soldiers at Camp Zachary Taylor at present and many more will come in during the week. The new building will have all of the advantages of the other three at the camp, with a colored Secretary in charge. The colored men are very apt entertainers, as they have been at a great many of the recreation centers already, and when they get a building for their own use the other buildings will have to look out for their laurels. The colored jazz band at the camp is always in demand and they never have an open night. T. H. O'Donnell, New Albany, and his company of ten entertainers made a great hit at building No. 2 of the Knights of Columbus on last Tuesday evening, where they provided a show of almost two hours, and the soldiers could not get enough of them. Mr. O'Donnell is one of the best cards that have been to Camp Taylor this year, and he and his excellent company will play the two other buildings of the Knights during the coming month. Besides Mr. O'Donnell there were in his company Miss Mitchell and Miss Hook, who are vocalists of fine quality. Miss Ella Sanders gave a very delightful pianologue, and little Miss Walsh danced and sang to the great delight of her soldier audience. Miss Van Pelt sang three numbers and Mr. Shallock gave several character numbers, which were much applauded. Besides this excellent entertainment on Tuesday evening the regular vaudeville show of Thursday night was composed of some very fine numbers. Bandmaster Montgomery gave a concert on the outdoor stage of the No. 3 building from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, after which Miss Blanche Mitchell gave her American ballet with Misses Nellie May Griffin, Jennie Miller, Mildred Franz, Kerrie Waller and Evelyn Grab doing the ballets. These dancers in their wonderful costumes with Miss Georgia Pouch were applauded many times. Little Miss Martha Spangler was the next star, singing and dancing "Long Boy" with five feet. Sergeant Flynn, of the Depot Brigade, gave a female impersonation of "A Milk Maid" and also sang two songs. Miss Grace Bixler was obliged to respond to the applause in her violin "act."

Miss Nancy Sabie is by far the best toe dancer seen at the camp and will dance again on the K. C. circuit this week. Misses Georgie and Evelyn Pouch brought the program to a close in their great dancing act, "The Bell Boy and the Maid." The Misses Pouch can play the same building every night in the week, and still be a wonderful attraction. This show in its entirety played both outdoor stages of the Knights of Columbus buildings Thursday night, and this week the Thursday evening entertainment will be carried on at three buildings.

Besides vaudeville the soldiers were treated to "Charlie Chaplin" on Sunday night, and the great war picture, "A Slacker's Heart," was shown on Monday and Friday evenings.

The spiritual services on Sunday morning were large as usual, and a number of clergymen visited the camp during the week, among whom were Rev. Father Markham, of Cincinnati, who has a brother at the base hospital, and the President of Notre Dame University, Father Cavanaugh, who was here at the commencement of St. Xavier's College. Father Cavanaugh met several soldiers from Notre Dame and he was a very welcome visitor.

The K. of C. Secretaries with Chaplain Gallagher are doing fine work at the base hospital, every day bringing comfort to the injured some of whom have been there for many weeks. This part of the Secretary's work is most important, as a great many of these boys have very few visitors. Earl Yingling was a very welcome visitor at building No. 2, as he talked of the world's championship games which the Knights of Columbus team played at Cincinnati last fall. Mr. Yingling is the well known National League baseball pitcher, and has many friends here in Louisville. The baseball score board at each of the Knights of Columbus buildings, where the results of all league games are given every day, are watched with much interest by the soldiers after "mess."

Several dozen easy chairs and porch rockers have been put in at each building and they are always occupied as the sun goes down. Look up the old gular or mandolin that you have up in the store room and send it out to the soldiers.

PATRIOTIC MEETING.

Marvin H. Lewis, Chairman of the Speaker's Bureau of the Kentucky Council of Defense, invites all fraternal society members to be present at the patriotic mass meeting in K. K. Theater, Fifth and Walnut streets, on July 4. All are requested to bring an American flag, and a copy of the "American's Creed" will be distributed for all to recite in unison. An attractive program of songs, exercises and the exercises will begin at 11:15 o'clock.

HONOR DR. CAVANAUGH.

A reception and banquet was tendered Dr. John R. Cavanaugh, D. D., President of Notre Dame University, who was here for St. Xavier's commencement exercises. The affair was given at the Seelbach and those present were: Rev. Charles P. Raffo, L. L. D.; Rev. Brother Benjamin, C. F. X.; Rev. Brother Thomas, C. F. X.; E. J. McDermott, J. J. Barry, Eugene Cooney, J. P. Casally, Raymond Lowry and Thomas Walsh.

EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

A good attendance at the fifteenth annual meeting of the Catholic Educational Association which will be held in San Francisco on July 22-25 is now assured by the announcement that the Government has authorized the railroads to grant the usual summer tourist round trip rates from all points East to the Pacific coast. This rate will be good from June 20 to October 31 and will carry stop-over privilege at all important points. The rate will be only a moderate advance over that prevailing in other years. The round trip rate from Chicago via direct lines will be about $87, plus war tax and incidentals and the rate from other points will be proportionate.

From inquiries received at the office of the association the attendance will probably be much larger than was anticipated. The members who expect to take the trip are advised to consult local ticket agents at once, and these agents will give them complete information on all details. Many of the Bishops of the country have signified their intention of sending official representatives to the meeting, and several special conferences of representatives of the Provincial and religious communities of women will be held under the direction of Archbishop Hanna.

The Catholic people of San Francisco, who have done so much for Catholic education, are determined, under the leadership of their splendid Archbishop, to make the fifteenth annual meeting of the Catholic Educational Association a notable success. A programme of unusual merit has been arranged, and the exercises will conclude with a grand public meeting in the large city Auditorium, which has a capacity of seating 10,000 people. The meeting will pay tribute to the splendid patriotism and loyalty shown by the large number of boys of our Catholic colleges and parish schools who are now in the military service.

NEW ALBANY PROUD.

Chairman Joseph Bruns, of the New Albany Knights of Columbus, reports that in the campaign just closed the Knights went over the top in their drive to raise $5,000 for the Knights of Columbus war fund, and the people of New Albany are to be congratulated on their proud showing.

POSTPONED EUCHE.

The euche of the children of St. Patrick's school, which was postponed last Tuesday on account of the inclement weather, will be given Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the public is invited to attend. It will be given at the school hall, Sixteenth and Market streets. The proceeds will be given to the Red Cross.

FIRST HIGH MASS.

Rev. Daniel M. O'Connell, son of David O'Connell, of Louisville, and nephew of the Very Rev. Dean C. J. O'Connell, of Bardstown, who was raised to the dignity of the sacred priesthood as a member of the Society of Jesus on Saturday morning, May 19, offered his first solemn holy sacrifice of the mass to the Almighty God at the old Cathedral in Bardstown last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Quite a number of his relatives and friends from this city were present.

K. OF C. DEMONSTRATION.

The New York Knights of Columbus will celebrate the Fourth of July with a patriotic demonstration on the campus of Fordham University and Hon. Bourke Cockran will be the orator of the day. Among those taking part will be Bishop Patrick J. Hayes, head of our army chaplains, who will soon go to France, a delegation of soldiers, a company of sailors, New York State Guard and Boy Scouts. In all 40,000 people will take part.

GOOD FERRY BILL.

People from all parts of the city are finding relief from the excessive heat when they visit Fontaine Ferry Park, where the cool breezes make that spot the most delightful in this section. The free band concerts and other attractions are enjoyed by thousands, and the excellent bill presented in the theater attracts crowded audiences. From all indications this will be a record breaking year for this popular resort.

ATTENDED FUNERAL.

The Rev. Charles Curran, pastor of Holy Trinity church; the Rev. William F. Seibert, of St. Mary's church; the Rev. J. J. Sermersheim, of St. Mary's of the Knobs, and the Rev. Father Reid, of St. John's church, attended the funeral of the Rev. Father Torbeck, of Evansville, which took place Tuesday.

ALL HAIL! ALL PRAISE!

All hail to the boys in the khaki!
All hail to the boys in the blue!
All hail to the sons of our nation,
Brave lads of stout heart, loyal,
true.

All hail to our men on the camp grounds!
All hail to our men "over there!"
Our sons, our brothers, our sweet hearts,
Gone forth but to do and to dare.

All hail to the flag they're defend- ing!
All hail to each stripe and bright star!
They'll fight 'em to death for its honor,
No stain its fair beauty shall mar.

All hail to the gold stars that glisten
Upon fields of white bound with red!
They gleam midst the blue of the living,
These stars of our brave, gallant dead.

All praise to the God of our na- tion,
Who holds the whole world in his hand!
To Him do we plead for our lad- ies,
Our homes, our banner, our land.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mr. and Mrs. Alos Ohlmann, of 742 East Chestnut street, have the sympathy of their many friends over the loss of their son, Walter E. Ohlmann, whose death occurred last Saturday. The funeral took place from St. Martin's church Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Death entered the home of John and Agnes Whalen, 706 West Oak street, Wednesday night, and bore into heavenly rest the soul of their infant son, Charles William. Their only consolation is that now a guardian angel watches over them. The funeral and interment took place Thursday afternoon.

The funeral of William P. Smith took place from Sacred Heart church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, his death occurring Sunday as the result of an automobile accident. The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Smith, of 646 Nineteenth street, and was a steady young man of exemplary habits, with a host of friends. Besides his parents he is survived by a sister, Miss Katie A. Smith, and one brother, George T. Smith, Jr.

FLAG RAISING.

A flag raising will take place at St. Elizabeth's church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the exercises consisting of an address by Rev. Father Fealey, Camp Zachary Taylor chaplain; blessing of the flag by Rev. Father James Assent, pastor of St. Elizabeth's church, and a concert by a military band from the cantonment.

DONATION TO RED CROSS.

The Sewing, Knitting and Red Cross Unit of Holy Cross church report that $200 was cleared at the card party given recently and this amount was turned over to the Louisville Chapter of the American Red Cross. Rev. Father Brey, the pastor, and ladies of the Red Cross Unit wish to extend thanks to those who helped in making the affair a success.

SEES THROUGH THEM.

As it becomes more evident from day to day that there is a strong sectarian power back of the present prohibition movement, Archbishop Messmer, of Milwaukee, had read in all the churches last Sunday a letter which forbids all priests under his jurisdiction assisting in prohibition movements and denies to prohibitionists use of church property for holding meetings. The Archbishop says that while many Catholics, priests among them, are actuated by good motives and acting in good faith in this matter, they fail to see the absolutely false principle underlying the movement for the sinister work of the enemies of the Catholic church, trying to profit by this opportunity of attacking her in the most sacred mystery entrusted to her. In connection with this prohibition is in no sense moderation, yet this is the true meaning of the cardinal virtue of temperance.

HEROES OF THE MARNE.

Never was the indomitable spirit of the French soldiers shown to better advantage than when the great drive was made on Paris. Spurred on by cheering talk of their officers, these men created history by their defense of their mother land. The picture shows a regiment of these fighters returning to billets after a long stretch at the front.

BANQUETS IRISH LEADERS.

James Thompson, who is a real Irish Nationalist, recently sent the following letter to his son, Lieut. Frank B. Thompson, Engineers U. S. R., now with the American Expeditionary Forces:

Dear Frank: While in New York recently I had as my guests at luncheon at the Bankers' Club of America some of the Irish leaders in New York City to discuss the unfortunate situation in Ireland as affecting the war, and see if anything could be done, but it was not deemed advisable to take any formal action at that time as it might possibly be misconstrued and embarrass the administration in Washington. Among others Mr. J. I. C. Clarke, President of the American Historical Society, was present. Mr. Clarke is a well known writer and author of "The Fighting Race," originally published in 1898, after the loss of the Marne. At the luncheon he read me from the original manuscript the appendix to same, entitled "Again on the Fields of France," all of which is republished in the Sun, June 16, 1918, in the magazine section of which I am sending you copy. I am also sending some copies to friends in Ireland. Yours truly,

JAMES THOMPSON.

COLONELS HERE WEDNESDAY.

The Louisville ball team will close its away-from-home trip at St. Paul Monday, then starting home, opening here Wednesday with Joe Tinker's Columbus team, and two games will be played here on Independence day. Now that it is assured that the American Association will continue through the season a revival in interest can be expected, and it is hoped with the addition of Bues and Compton the Colonels will again strike their stride. The only drawback to the association this year is the failure of the crowds to turn out at Minneapolis and St. Paul, and this is nothing new, as these two burgs have been a drawback to the league at all times.

GOOD FOR "BABE."

William J. Ryan, the dean of local umpires, and known to all the fans as "Babe," has been engaged in a good work this week, and incidentally doing his bit for the boys. Hearing from the many Louisville boys stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas, that they were without baseball paraphernalia "Babe" enlisted George Buechel and several good friends in the cause and raised enough money to send the boys a complete line of baseball supplies.

HEARS FROM DADDY.

Little Lily Mary Eckstein, an eight-year old girl, living with her relative, Mrs. M. A. McIntyre, of 809 South Fourth street, has heard from her "daddy," Sergeant Clem E. Eckstein, who is stationed with the Engineering Corps over in France. The little girl is proudly exhibiting a copy of this picture to her friends.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

The Twin City League took on new life last Sunday and the pleasant weather brought out big crowds to Shawnee Park, over 2,000 people watching the Vernon-Hibernian game, which was a thriller until the last few innings, the A. O. H. boys cracking, and the Vernons won 9 to 4, and there was double rejoicing by the big following of rooters from the East End, as this victory gave them first place in the pennant race. Donald Coleman, the Champs' new manager, was a little pushed for players Sunday on account of the draft loss, his lineup being outclassed by Trinity, who were the victors in a 7 to 1 score. Marvin Moore, Trinity's star twirler, again made 'em sit up and take notice by striking out fifteen. Another surprise was the defeat of the K. of C. by Mackin, who pulled the game out of the fire in the seventh, winning 12 to 7, and Manager Leo Connelly, of the winners was all smiles about the victory. Another surprise was the balanced card of the season and the spectators will have a hard time in selecting the best game. They play as follows: Mackin vs Champs, Vernons vs Trinity and K. of C. vs Hibernians. Standing to date:

| | W | L | Pct. |
|------------|---|---|------|
| Vernon | 5 | 1 | .834 |
| K. of C. | 4 | 2 | .667 |
| Hibernians | 4 | 2 | .667 |
| Mackin | 3 | 3 | .500 |
| Trinity | 2 | 4 | .333 |
| Champs | 0 | 6 | .000 |

PATRIOTIC FLAG EXERCISES.

People from all sections of the city assisted at the flag raising exercises at St. Joseph's Orphan Home last Sunday afternoon. The patriotic exercises were preceded by an imposing parade on Frankfort avenue by the Knights of St. John, the Crescent Hill Improvement Club and members of the St. Joseph's Orphan Society, headed by a band from Camp Taylor. President Henry Doose delivered the opening address and raised the beautiful flag, assisted by six orphan girls. Addresses were made by ex-Lieut. Gov. Edward J. McDermott, Frank Fehr and others, who paid eloquent tribute to "Our Flag and St. Joseph's Orphan Society." The flagpole is seventy-five feet high and stands at the entrance to the grounds.

The message told also of the arrival at headquarters in Paris of a large party of Knights of Columbus chaplains, secretaries and other workers.

WILL GET OUR COAL.

The Harvey-Jellico Coal Company, incorporated, recently organized with Everett E. Lanning as President, Joseph M. Dougherty as Vice President and General Manager and Edward H. Neuhaus as Secretary and Treasurer, have taken over and control of the coal fields operated by the Dougherty & Lanning Coal Co., Fifteenth and Magnolia, the Southern Coal & Coke Co., First and A, and the Asher Coal Co., Pope and Payne streets. The new company is closely affiliated with the Jewett-Bigelow & Brooks coal interests, of Cincinnati, one of the largest operators in the Eastern Kentucky fields, with whom arrangements have been made to secure a big supply of first class Eastern Kentucky and Jellico coal for distribution on both wholesale and retail basis from the three Louisville yards referred to. In accordance with the appeal already made by the Government, the Harvey-Jellico Coal Company urges all consumers to secure their winter's fuel requirements at the very earliest possible date, thus performing a patriotic duty and will assist in reducing to a minimum the contemplated suffering from scarcity of coal on account of shortage of coal carrying equipment, etc., when all transportation facilities are taxed to their capacity during the winter months.

ARCHBISHOP KEANE FUNERAL.

The funeral of retired Archbishop John Joseph Keane, took place in Dubuque, Iowa, Wednesday, his death occurring last Saturday, but his body lay in state in the Cathedral for a few days.
